Good News category:

from Kirk Bloodsworth info@innocenceproject.org “[Oct. 11], the Washington State Supreme Court banned the death penalty in a 9-0 decision, calling it “arbitrary and racially biased.” Washington became the 20th state to abolish capital punishment and the third state to do so on the basis of racial disparities...

Here’s what the data say: Black people make up 13% of the U.S. population, but 42% of people on death row and 31% of the total incarcerated population; 69% of the 362 DNA exonerates are people of color, and 61% are black; 65% of DNA death row exonerees are people of color...

As an exonerated survivor of death row, this decision is personal. Now we can be certain that no innocent person will be executed in the state of Washington... Please join me, Witness to Innocence, the Innocence Project Northwest, the Innocence Project and others directly impacted by the death penalty in sharing the news!"

“The missile defense base near Delta Junction has funding for an additional two missile interceptors under the military construction budget signed into law last month, according to the office of Rep. Don Young. The additional $8 million will bring the missile interceptor count to 62 at Fort Greely within the next five years... Last year, Congress granted the military’s request for $200 million to add a fourth field with 20 interceptors to the three missile fields already at Fort Greely over the next four years.”

from Alaska Public Radio Network: “Amid a shortage of hospital beds, psychiatric patients put in jails” Fri, 10-12-18

Alaska Psychiatric Institute - A small number of Alaskans experiencing psychiatric crises are being diverted from healthcare facilities to custody within the Department of Corrections. Critics worry the emergency measure is not only unlawful, but putting patients in jeopardy. Listen now.

“After a roughly two-year court battle, a superior court judge ruled today that the Kenai Peninsula Borough's invocation policy is unconstitutional.” See more here.

from PopularResistance: “Restricting Our Right To Protest Shows We Are Winning

The radical attack on our constitutional right to protest in Washington, DC, needs to be stopped. The National Park Service (NPS) has published proposed rules that would curtail First Amendment rights to assemble, petition the government and exercise free speech in the nation’s capital. Together, we can stop this

Fox Spring Update: “10/9/18: ...now open to the public. The spring was closed on September 10, 2018 for repairs to the holding tank and to make necessary improvements to the wayside, including replacement of a culvert under the footpath leading to the building and watering point. We sincerely appreciate all the Fox Spring users’ patience while these necessary repairs and improvements were made. Thanks to the Friends of Fox Spring for their support and

"#LETTERSTOTHEWARMACHINE
The Women's March on the Pentagon encourages all those opposed to endless war to write #LettersToTheWarMachine, during our "Why I Oppose War" campaign.

The Pentagon's lust for endless war takes a heavy toll on the daily lives and the future of all people across the globe in a large variety of ways. It is a misconception that only those in war torn countries are impacted by the U.S. War Machine. Unfortunately, thanks to the ever expanding U.S. military budget and the Pentagon's lust for war, no corner of the planet is untouched from the War Machine's reach.

It is also a misconception that we can't do anything about this terrible reality. #LettersToTheWarMachine is an opportunity for you to speak your mind, to express your frustration, your anger and your grief, in writing. Writing down your thoughts becomes your plan of action. Your words peer up from the page and demand action from the reader.

Expressing these emotions and demands clears your mind and readies you for the fight ahead, the fight against the War Machine.

Letters sent to use as part of this campaign will be featured on the Women's March website and many will be read aloud on October 21st at the Pentagon’s fortress gates during the Women’s March on the Pentagon. Send Your Letter!”

from Jeff Paterson@CourageToResist.org: “How to Support Reality Winner, Imprisoned Whistleblower sentenced to 5 yrs in prison for sharing a secret NSA document outlining foreign interference in US election systems. Join Courage to Resist and a dozen other organizations in calling on President Trump, who has acknowledged Winner’s treatment as “so unfair,” to pardon Reality Winner or to commute her sentence to time served...

“Do not collaborate. Refuse illegal Orders. Our campaign to challenge service members to “refuse illegal and immoral orders” is underway. Due to resistance on many levels, Trump’s massive military-hosted immigrant detention camps are not going up as fast as initially announced, but they are moving forward--often on contaminated military lands.

‘Everyone hates the mission,’ ‘My military has been ordered to help run Trump’s immigrant prison camps. Not the mission I signed up for,’ and ‘This is so messed up. Not sure what I’m going to do.’ These are some of the responses we’ve received so far from service members.

“So what are we actually asking service members to do? Well, speak out for starters, anonymously or, with our help, publicly in a way that doesn’t necessarily violate military regulations. If they choose to resist, they’ll have our support—we’ve collaborated on the public and legal defense of about 50 service members who have faced serious consequences for having taken conscious stands since 2005.”

Fairbanks International Friendship Day celebrates 32 years! (INTERVIEW)
Celebrating Peace - Asymmetric Moose comments & music

Courage to Resist is now a project of the Church of Conscious Objection (CCO), a 501(c)(3) charitable organization (EIN 83-1810568). The “Objector Church” embraces the historic legacy of religious humanism, with a simple doctrine: To do the right thing, guided by an embrace of humanity and a rejection of war and militarism. It’s a non-denominational peace and justice ministry, so everyone is welcome. Aside from supporting Courage to Resist, the church will be launching a national conscientious objection registry. Right now, every young man in the United States between the ages of 18 and 25 is required by law to register for the draft. As we’ve been writing about, it’s likely that this forced registration will soon be expanded to women as well, since all military jobs are now open to women for the first time. The Selective Service System has no method of (or interest in) recording an individual’s objection to participating in war at the time of registration. The church will provide counseling and options such as notarized letters of support for an individual’s conscientious beliefs. These will serve as evidence of previously held beliefs in the case of a draft.
