“Anchorage Climate Action Plan adopted by Anchorage Assembly” from echoak.com, June 1. “Municipality commits to goal of reducing emissions 80% by 2050... [Some are pushing to change this goal date to 2035] The Climate Action Strategy identifies Municipal-led, high impact, high priority actions from the Anchorage Climate Action Plan that the city will take in the near term. The administration has launched several actions for 2019...” Read the article, or a csmonitor article.

from Friends Committee on National Legislation (FCNL): “This week, the House passed the American Dream and Promise Act of 2019 (H.R. 6). This is a critical step towards a permanent solution for millions of Dreamers and Temporary Protected Status (TPS) recipients who have been stuck in limbo for years... The spending bill they are considering includes many strong oversight provisions that rein-in funding for abusive practices... Your legislator needs to hear from you before they vote. Urge your representative to take the next step to protect immigrants by divesting from enforcement spending and investing in true humanitarian solutions.

“Congress Still Pushing to End U.S. Support for War in Yemen
When it comes to the war in Yemen, Congress has made its feelings known: It wants to end U.S. participation, and block the sales of weapons to the countries carrying it out. In response, the Trump administration attempted to go around Congress to sell munitions to Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Emirates. On Wednesday, a bipartisan group of senators responded by introducing 22 separate joint resolutions of disapproval for each of the sales. Read more in this column co-authored by FCNL’s Diana Ohlbaum.

But you can -- by forcing one of the biggest retailers in the world to cut out bee-harming pesticides. With your help, we’ll send a bee scientist to Kroger’s shareholder meeting to show investors that bee extinction is bad business! More information:

More news from Fairbanks Housing and Homeless Coalition [with more to be reported next week]:

“ThrivAlaska: ThrivAlaska is currently accepting applications for their birth to Five programs. Families experiencing homelessness are prioritized and many of the programs are provided at no cost for income eligible families. Please see attached flyer."

“The Bridge: The Fairbanks Reentry Coalition has formed a new program call the Bridge. The Bridge is an employment service program closely modeled after the Individual Placement and Support (IPS) model of supported employment for people with mental illness. Giles Hawthorne is the Supported Employment Coordinator for the Bridge and Don Harpole is heading up the Peer Support Services for the Bridge. Please see attached info and for more information please call or email Giles at gilesha@iacnvl.org (907) 374-2905.

“Resource Kiosks: The FNA Resource Kiosks are now operational and currently set up at the Courthouse, the Noel Wien Library, the Door, and FNA SOAP. The kiosks at the courthouse and library will remain there due to the high volume of use, but the other two kiosks will likely be deployed to other locations on a rotational basis. The Kiosks are large tablet style kiosks that have interactive links to local resources. Please feel free to go check out these great devices and for more information contact Sean Williams stwilliams@fairbanksnative.org.

“Fairbanks Recovery Residence for Women: IACNVL [Interior Alaska Center for Nonviolent Living] has recently developed a recovery residence for women. It is in a 4 bedroom home conveniently located in downtown Fairbanks. The residence is all inclusive (electric, heat, telephone, internet, laundry, computer, and food) for just $75-150/week. Please see attached fliers and application. For more email housingdirector@iacnvl.org  Fairbanks Recovery Residence  Recovery Residence Application from FCNL: “The House Armed Services Committee advanced an important provision to prevent the deployment of so-called “usable nukes.” National security leaders have said these weapons are a gateway to nuclear catastrophe and should not be pursued. The committee has shown strong leadership thus far—in the face of pressure from the administration to advance this dangerous technology. We need to keep the pressure on to make sure these weapons don’t get deployed.”

Audio & Songs broadcast with this week’s Community News and Opportunities:
-- Asymmetric Moose Music Picks for the week of June 9, 2019

Hello this is Rob Mulford the Asymmetric Moose with the Asymmetric Moose Music Picks for the week of June 9, 2019. Today, we’ll be hearing from two more contributors to our community’s wellbeing who spoke at last week’s annual Alaska Peace Center Peace Feast.

Enei and Aakaluk are two powerful women with powerful messages that we as a community need to hear and share. Enei will be speaking of and for Native Movement and their ongoing projects of justice and decolonization. Aakaluk speaks from the heart of the horrors and heartbreak of murdered and missing indigenous women and children. Listen to her message, and then share it. We can be part of the healing.

Finally, I’ll close this weeks segment with a tune; Nikki Shawana will sign Sister Round Dance Song (Missing and Murdered Indigenous Women’s Honor Song).
