“Universal background checks were just re-introduced in the House and Senate this week. And we finally have gun safety majorities in the House..."
and Senate, plus a president in the White House who is willing to sign this lifesaving legislation into law... Over 90% of Americans support this legislation, now we just need Congress to act. But they need to act fast, because firearms are being purchased at an alarming rate. During the pandemic gun sales have skyrocketed — and as life returns to normal, we need to make sure there is legislation in place to prevent tragedies. Let’s urge Congress to pass this legislation [HR 1446, S 529] and get it to President Biden’s desk as soon as we can." from Gabby Giffords

Part of the George Floyd Justice in Policing Act (HR 1280), newly reintroduced in Congress, is called the Stop Militarizing Law Enforcement Act. and it has a good chance of passing if we push for it.

Under this law, the U.S. military would be forbidden to transfer to federal, tribal, state, or local law enforcement agencies the following:

- Firearms, ammunition, bayonets, grenade launchers, grenades (including stun and flash-bang), and explosives.
- Vehicles, except for passenger automobiles and bucket trucks.
- Drones.
- Controlled aircraft that are combat configured or combat coded or have no established commercial flight application.
  - Silencers.
  - Long-range acoustic devices.
- Items in the Federal Supply Class of banned items.

"Some great news on the demise of the death penalty.

In the past week alone, three new states saw legislation introduced to repeal the death penalty: Georgia, Wyoming, and Ohio. Even better, each of these bills has bipartisan support with at least one Republican listed as a sponsor on each of them." (Alaska does not have a death penalty but the federal government still does.)

Change Your mind and want to get out of the Delayed Entry Program (DEP)?

If you signed up for the Delayed Entry Program DEP (or the Army’s “Future Soldiers Training Program”) and then changed your mind, watch out for recruiters who say you can’t get out of it, or that you must report to boot camp to be released. Neither is true. To quit the DEP, there are simple steps you should take before your date to report for basic training. Don’t expect your recruiter to help you, and you should NOT go to a military base if you are told to report there to get released.

For free help getting out of the DEP, first talk to a counselor by contacting the GI Rights Hotline, (877) 447-4487 and leave a message that you want to get out of the Delayed Entry Program with your name and contact phone number and YOU WILL BE CALLED BACK.

If you need to talk about your situation quickly, Call the Military Law Task Force @ 619-463-2369 and talk to a counselor ASAP.

"The Native Village of Tazlina, an Ahtna tribe near Glennallen, is seeking donations and other funding to buy back a 450-acre plot of land… where a lot of tribal members have fish-camps. Locals I’ve talked to worry that if Tazlina can’t raise the funds needed, the site could likely get sold to a sportfishing lodge developer. [It] that used to be the site of a regional Catholic boarding school. The Archdiocese of Alaska still owns the lands, and they have given NV Tazlina till September, 2022 to raise the $1.8 million needed to buy them back. The tribe still has a long ways to go, but if it can raise $250,000 by October, it will be able to leverage a large land-trust grant. "Truth in Recruiting - Today, less than 0.5% of the U.S. population serves in the armed forces, compared with more than 12% during World War II. Very often, the public's perception of the military lifestyle is limited to what they've seen on the news, TV, or video games.

"Recruiters are salespeople, plain and simple. They undergo extensive sales training and are judged by their superiors primarily upon the number of recruits they sign up... Fail to sign up the minimum number assigned (known as "making mission"), and a recruiter is looking at a dead-end career. This policy pressures some recruiters to adopt unethical practices in order to "make mission."

"On March 7, 1965, John Lewis, Hosea Williams, and 600 civil rights marchers were viciously beaten and tear gassed by Alabama state and local police at the Edmund Pettus Bridge as they embarked on a march from Selma to Montgomery to demand voting rights. “Bloody Sunday” ignited the conscience of the nation and led to the Voting Rights Act, passed five months later.

"The League [of Women Voters] is pleased to co-sponsor “From Bloody Sunday to Today: The Fight for the Right to Vote,” an in-depth conversation among nationally recognized experts, presented by the Workers Circle and the Center for Common Ground. There will be ASL and live captioning provided.

"Presenters will look back at what it took to get the Voting Rights Act passed, how it expanded the vote, the ongoing attempts to subvert it, and how passing voting rights legislation in 2021 is an urgent matter of racial justice and critical to strengthening our democracy. You’ll leave this conversation equipped and inspired to take action."

“HR 1 is sold as a way to get money out of politics and to protect voters but it contains a poison pill for democracy and opposition parties like the Green Party. HR1 quintuples the amount of money Green presidential campaigns will be required to raise to qualify for federal matching funds: from $5,000 in each of 20 states to $25,000 per state... actually dismantling everyone's right to organize electorally against the parties of War and Wall Street. In a recent Gallup poll, a record 62% of US voters said we need a new major party.

"...it’s true, HR1 contains some badly needed reforms. That makes it all the more shameful for the Democrats to use those reforms as cover to eliminate competition from alternative parties.

to Burkina Faso, a landlocked country in the West African Sahel, since 2009, but it was only several years later that the country began to confront militant violence linked to what local people call “jihadism.”

......The case of Burkina Faso shows how governments use the U.S. narrative of terrorism and counterterrorism, along with the accompanying financial, political, and institutional resources given them by the U.S., to repress minority groups, justify authoritarianism, and facilitate illicit profiteering, all while failing to address poverty and other structural problems that lead to widespread frustration with the state.

.......In a vicious cycle, what the U.S. calls security assistance actually accomplishes the opposite. Around the world, it has fed insecurity, bolstering the militants that react against the government injustices exacerbated by this aid.

[But] HR1 will:

- Eliminate the limits on donations and expenditures candidates can receive and make — what kind of campaign finance reform is that?
- Inflate the amount of money national party committees can give to candidates from $5000 to $100 million, an astonishing increase of 1999990% that would give party bosses virtually unlimited power to flood elections with big money
- Abolish the general election campaign block grants that parties can access by winning at least 5% of the vote in the previous presidential election. HR1 will eliminate this provision that was created to give a fair shot to alternative parties that demonstrate significant public support
- Replace the general election block grants (where each qualified candidate receives a set, lump sum of public funding for campaign expenses) with matching funds through Election Day — a huge step backwards for public campaign finance reform — using the above-mentioned criteria designed to squeeze out alternative parties and independent candidates

Instead of trying to fool American voters and eliminating minor party voices, the Green Party calls for real reforms to democratize elections:

Audio & Songs broadcast with this week’s Community News:

"Hello this is Rob Mulford, the Asymmetric Moose, with picks for the week of March 7th, 2021,
In pursuit of historical documentation relative to upcoming efforts to have our local governments pass resolutions calling on the President of The United States and the U.S. Senate to ratify and adhere to provisions in the recently enacted United Nations Treaty on the Prohibition of Nuclear Weapons (TPNW), Heather was able to uncover the following active Alaska Statutory Language; passed by initiative in 1986, by a vote of 80,326 For / 57,125 against.

Sec. 44.99.120. Declaration of nuclear freeze policy. It is the policy of the State of Alaska
(1) to recognize that the greatest challenge facing the earth is to prevent the occurrence of nuclear war by accident or design;
(2) to recognize that the nuclear arms race is dangerously increasing the risk of a holocaust that would be humanity's final war;
(3) to promote a mutual and verifiable freeze followed by reductions in nuclear warheads, missiles, and other delivery systems in order to halt the nuclear arms race and to reduce the risk of nuclear war. (1986 Initiative Proposal No.1, § 1)

Sec. 44.99.125. Implementation of policy. (a) The governor shall conduct the affairs of state and carry out state programs in conformity with this policy.
(b) The lieutenant governor shall deliver copies of this Act to Congress and the President of the United States. (1986 Initiative Proposal No.1, § 2)

The following is a repeat of a review that I made of the U.S. DoD’s 2018 Nuclear Posture Review. Please note the DoD’s designation of the F-35 as Nuclear Weapons Delivery System. My question here is: have we had a Governor since the enactment of this Statute that has complied with Sec. 44.99.125. Implementation of policy. (a) The governor shall conduct the affairs of state and carry out state programs in conformity with this policy.

I recall seeing a couple of them lobbying the U.S. Air Force to install the afore mentioned delivery system in our neighborhood. Please consider supporting these Nuclear Weapons Ban Resolutions, as they are brought forward.
I talk too much. Offering peace, I’ll play what is possibly the most upbeat sounding tune about nuclear holocaust that I have ever heard. The German band Nena sing 99 Red Balloons.

Wage Peace."
